REQUIRED TEXT/RESOURCE MATERIALS:

Robbins, Stephen P., and Langton, Nancy. (2012) Organizational Behaviour, Concepts, Controversies, Applications (Sixth Canadian Edition). Toronto. Pearson Prentice Hall.

CALENDAR DESCRIPTION:

This course explores questions relevant to the understanding, explanation, and prediction of behaviour in organizations. It focuses on the contributions from the social and management sciences and experience. It is, therefore, a blending of scientific theory, empirical data, and subjective experience in application and interpretation.

There is no "one best way" to manage or lead behaviour in organizations. However, there are costs and benefits associated with specific actions (or lack of actions). Understanding and application of theory, analytical skill development, and experiential development of a "feel" for the tasks involved in working in organizations are all important parts of this course.

CREDIT/CONTACT HOURS:

This is a 3 credit course with 3 lecture hours per week. Students are expected to attend all classes.

DELIVERY MODE(S):

The course work includes a combination of lectures, class discussions, group work, in-class exercises, videos and case studies. Where appropriate and when available, guest speakers will be used.

OBJECTIVES:

To gain an appreciation of the contribution of the behavioural sciences to the understanding of the management process;

To develop a theoretical basis for analyzing human behaviour in organizational settings;

To develop the ability to put theory into practice through application to personal experience and/or case studies; To develop an understanding of the effects of interaction and structure on human behaviour;

To develop and improve interpersonal skills relevant to OB in practice.
