Dietary Analysis	40%: This is an analysis of your own lifestyle throughout the semester.

DIETARY ANALYSIS

The analysis will include four different submissions. Each submission is unique to the type of content we are discussing at the time. A description for each of the submissions will be discussed in class. These submissions will include content from the textbook and additional research items from our moodle page and/or other peer-reviewed, library sources. A requirement for grades is the submission of the previous assignment. No further work can be done submitted until the previous work has been handed in. These submissions total 40% of your grade.
