CALENDAR DESCRIPTION: A study of contemporary and postmodern works written since 1960 by Canadian authors like Atwood, Laurence, Munro, Ondaatje, Urquhart, MacLeod, Vanderhaeghe, and others.

CREDIT/CONTACT HOURS: EN 3760 consists of two 80-minute classes per week.

DELIVERY MODE(S): Course work includes lectures, class discussions, group work, in-class quizzes, online assignments, and individual student work, both written and oral.

OBJECTIVES: We will encounter Canadian Literature written in the latter decades of the 20th century and into the 21st century, with the aim to consider them in relation to relevant contemporary social, cultural and political topics. We will attempt to explore the various ways in which Canadian writers participate in the shaping of Canadian literature, in relation to our particular history, geography and culture. Students learn to appreciate and critique the literature through discussion, seminar presentation, critical research and writing, film, and lecture.

EXAMINATIONS: There will be several unscheduled reading quizzes during this course, and in terms of preparation, these will only require careful reading of the day's assigned text. A final examination will be scheduled by the registrar, and students must not make travel plans prior to this date.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES:

1. Essays will not be accepted after the due date unless prior arrangements have been made. Penalties of 10% per day late may be applicable in these cases. All essays must be typed, double-spaced, and stapled together. Assignments not meeting these criteria will not be accepted. No essay may be submitted by e-mail.
2. Quizzes cannot be made up, but in the case of a verifiable medical emergency, with official doctor's note, may be excused.
3. Students will not receive credit for any work or deadline missed because of an unexcused absence. If students are absent the day of a scheduled presentation (group or individual) they will receive a 0 for the presentation or project.
4. The reading outline is subject to change according to time constraints and other considerations; therefore, students are responsible for any changes that are announced in class whether they are in attendance or not.
5. Please keep a copy of all written work. In the event of theft or loss, the student is required to submit a duplicate copy.
6. Cell phones must be turned off during classes. This also means NO TEXTING during class time. Disregarding this policy will adversely affect the student's success in the course.
7. Students are expected to check the Moodle site for this course before each class to stay informed; in the event of a class cancellation, the announcement will be posted to Moodle.
8. Students are advised to read the GPRC Admissions Guide for the rules regarding Registration, Withdrawals, Academic Misconduct including plagiarism, and Appeals.

STATEMENT ON PLAGIARISM AND CHEATING:

Please refer to page 50 of the GPRC Admissions Guide regarding plagiarism, cheating, and the resultant penalties. These are serious issues: see www.gprc.ab.ca/downloads/documents/Student%20Misconduct%20Plagiarism%20and%20Cheating.pdf
