CALENDAR DESCRIPTION: The role of women as creative musical forces in the Western art traditions of Europe and North America are explored from Hildegard of Bingen in the 12th century to current trends of the 21st century. This is a study of women's contributions to the field of music not only as composers, but also performers, pedagogues, scholars and patrons. An interdisciplinary approach reveals how social and cultural contexts have affected the artistic process for female musicians. Note: A recommended course for the Bachelor of Arts and the Music Diploma program.

CREDIT/CONTACT HOURS: 3(3-0-0) UT 45 Hours

DELIVERY MODE(S): Lecture, Moodle assisted

OBJECTIVES: This course encompasses a study of prominent women composers and their music. It is presented in a broad historical framework spanning from the Medieval music of Hildegard of Bingen to contemporary composers of this century. Various topics of discussion highlight the effect of the musical canon, education, and publishing on women's creativity and output. Lectures are organized thematically rather than chronologically or geographically and reveal how a tradition of women's music has evolved. As well as the Classical traditions discussed, the course will delve into the genres and female artists of jazz, blues, celtic, country and popular music. Their impact as a driving force in the shaping of the evolution of contemporary music and popular culture will be the final area of discussion.
