

DEPARTMENT OF ARTS AND EDUCATION

COURSE OUTLINE – FALL 2017

SO1000 (B2 & N2): INTRODUCTORY SOCIOLOGY - 3 (3-0-0) 45 Hours for 15 Weeks

INSTRUCTOR: Esayas Geleta, Ph.D PHONE: 780.539.2973
OFFICE: C410 E-MAIL: EGeleta@gprc.bc.ca
OFFICE HOURS: 11:30-1pm Tuesday and Thursday; by appointment; drop-ins welcome

CALENDAR DESCRIPTION:

This course examines the theory, methods, and substance of sociology. How societies and individuals are shaped and modified by culture, socialization, deviance, stratification, group processes, industrialization, and social movements will be covered.

PREREQUISITE(S)/COREQUISITE(S): none

REQUIRED TEXT(S)/RESOURCE MATERIALS:

Macionis, J. and Gerber, L (2017). Sociology, 9th Edition. North York, Ontario: Pearson Education Canada.

I may name additional recommended readings in class. The course will also make use of sociological journal articles, which I will post on Moodle. Such readings are important to deepen your understanding of the lecture topics beyond the foundational understanding gleaned from your priority reading.

DELIVERY MODE(S): lectures, class discussion, group work, and class presentations

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

- Introduce students to the essential sociological concepts and their historical foundation
- Help students understand the reciprocal relation between individual behavior and society
- Appreciate the ‘sociological imagination’ view-point
- Learn to apply the theories and methodologies of sociology as a social science in their everyday lives.
- Provides students with an understanding of the work of contemporary sociologists and with strong foundational knowledge in preparation for further sociological study
- Familiarize students with the key sociological concepts, theories and debates
- Demonstrate, using illustrative materials, the uses and continued importance of sociological analysis in the modern and postmodern world.

- Promote and develop students' skills in critical thinking, writing, referencing and research

LEARNING OUTCOMES: On successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Define a range of sociological concepts used within substantive fields of sociology
- Explain everyday life using sociological concepts
- Illustrate the applicability of sociological concepts to everyday life
- Explain the wider introductory sociological literature
- Identify and explain the research tools used by sociologists
- Explain key ethical principles employed in sociological practice.

TRANSFERABILITY: UA, UC, AU, UL, AF, CU, CUC, GMU, KUC

Warning: Although we strive to make the transferability information in this document up-to-date and accurate, the student has the final responsibility for ensuring the transferability of this course to Alberta Colleges and Universities. Please consult the Alberta Transfer Guide for more information. You may check to ensure the transferability of this course at Alberta Transfer Guide main page <http://www.transferalberta.ca> or, if you do not want to navigate through few links, at <http://alis.alberta.ca/ps/tsp/ta/tbi/onlineresearch.html?SearchMode=S&step=2>

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES:

ATTENDANCE AND EXAM POLICIES:

Attendance at lectures is strongly encouraged, as are your participation in class discussions and group discussions.

Class attendance is useful for two reasons. First, class attendance maximizes a student's learning experience. Second, attending class is a good way to keep informed of matters relating to the administration of the course (e.g., the timing of assignments and exams). Ultimately, you are responsible for your own learning and performance in this course.

It is the responsibility of each student to be prepared for all classes. Students who miss classes are responsible for the material covered in those classes by asking fellow students for the material covered, and for ensuring that they are prepared for the next class, including the completion of any assignments and / or notes that may be due.

PLEASE NOTE:

A missed exam won't be accommodated unless the situation is an unexpected personal or family emergency, and unless you can provide documentation.

STATEMENT ON PLAGIARISM AND CHEATING:

Cheating and plagiarism will not be tolerated and there will be penalties. For a more precise definition of plagiarism and its consequences, refer to the Student Conduct section of the College Calendar at <http://www.gprc.ab.ca/programs/calendar/> or the College Policy on Student Misconduct: Plagiarism and Cheating at <https://www.gprc.ab.ca/about/administration/policies>

Instructors reserve the right to use electronic plagiarism detection services on written assignments.

Instructors also reserve the right to ban the use of any form of electronics (cell phones, Blackberries, iPods, tablets, scanning pens, electronic dictionaries, etc.) during class and during exams.

Note: all Academic and Administrative policies are available on the same page.

Additional Information

While lectures form the backbone of this module, various learning strategies will also be utilized such as group work, group and class discussions. Through the preparation of thought-provoking questions, students will be encouraged to think critically about a range of social circumstances. In your lectures, you will receive guidance as to the areas of knowledge on which you should concentrate. You will receive an overview of key points of learning relevant to these topics. It is expected that you will deepen your understanding of lecture contents, group discussions and class discussions through independent reading.

If at any point in the semester you feel you are struggling with the module or with your course work, please don't hesitate to ask for assistance. Come and see me during my drop-in office hour, and I will assist you or point you towards other suitable sources of support. If you are scheduled to attend lectures or have other commitments during my office hour, please contact me by e-mail for an appointment. My email address is EGeleta@gprc.ab.ca

Moodle

This course will make extensive use of a dedicated Internet site on Moodle to support your learning. You are expected for keeping current with the content of the site and I advise you to log on at least once a week.

Academic Misconduct

Students are considered to be responsible adults and should adhere to principles of intellectual integrity. Intellectual dishonesty may take many forms, such as:

- Plagiarism or the submission of another person's work as one's own
- The use of unauthorized aids in assignments or examinations (cheating)
- Collusion or the unauthorized collaboration with others in preparing work
- The deliberate misrepresentation of qualifications
- The willful distortion of results or data
- Substitution in an examination by another person
- Handing in the same unchanged work as submitted for another assignment
- Breach of confidentiality.

The consequences for academic misconduct range from a verbal reprimand to expulsion from the College. More specific descriptions and details are found in the Student Rights and Student Code of Conduct section of the GPRC credit calendar. It is the responsibility of each student to be aware of the guidelines outlined in the Student Rights and Student Code of Conduct Policies.

Specialized Supports

Counselling and Disability Services

Counselling Services provides a wide range of specialized counselling services to prospective and registered students, including personal, career and academic counselling.

Students with Disabilities

It is the College's goal that learning experiences be as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience physical or academic barriers based on a disability, please let your instructor know immediately so options can be discussed. You are also welcome to contact Accessibility Services to establish reasonable accommodations. <https://www.gprc.ab.ca/services/accessibility/>

Learning Support Centre

The Learning Support Centre is accessible through the Library at the Main campus of GPRC, where students can gather to share ideas, collaborate on projects and get new perspectives on learning from our tutorial staff.

The Learning Support Centre, through a variety of delivery methods, provides assistance in skill development to GPRC students. Assistance is provided by instructors, staff and student tutors. Individuals wishing to improve their mathematics, writing, grammar, study, or other skills, can take advantage of this unique service.

Email

Please be considerate when using email to communicate with your instructor.

- Questions are best addressed in person – following class, or during office hours.
- Email is a poor substitute for actual instructor/student conversations.
- If you are implored to send an email you need to include the course number and your full name (as you are known by the college) in the subject heading. If you do not include the course number and your name in the subject line I will not respond.

Professional Conduct

- Please be aware that I respect that everyone's time is precious and valuable, please afford me the same courtesy.
- Instead of preoccupying your mind with the question – “how do I get an ‘A’?” Instead, ask yourself how can I work to expand my knowledge, perspective and outlook on the world?
